

"Working together to care for Earth"

1st Annual Earth Day Walk

April 19, 2008

8:00am—10:00am

In coordination with

Great Plains Nature Center

(E 29th St N & Woodlawn)

6232 E 29th North
Wichita, KS

Working Together to Care for Earth

OUR VISION

Great Plains Earth Institute is a non-profit, grassroots education organization whose mission, stated above, is working together to care for Earth. GPEI's discussion circles, community programs, and special events inspire individuals to reawaken to Nature, reexamine their values and habits, and recommit themselves to protecting Earth. We hope to make a difference, one mind and heart at a time.

In this 21st century, it is clear that we are facing a global environmental crisis of unprecedented scope. We believe that the root causes of these problems are psychological, spiritual, cultural and individual. The search for lasting solutions, then, must begin with each one of us examining our attitudes and values about the natural world and helping one another find the courage to change and grow.

We at GPEI are working to create a new vision of American society – one based on sustainable community, ecological health, and a sense of the sacredness of Creation. And we're offering people the resources to help make that vision a reality.

Great Plains Earth Institute
829 N Market, Wichita, KS 67214
316-262-4120 fax: 316-264-2233

EARTH DAY CELEBRATIONS

We Celebrate As Well As Educate!

Earth Day Fair

Saturday, April 19
10am to 2pm

First Unitarian Universalist

7202 E 21st N
316-684-3481

Join us for earth-friendly entertainment, food, information and more! Taste delectable, earth-friendly treats prepared by Mitchell Catering. Tour the new, green-designed and green-built First UU Church of Wichita. Visit booths and hear speakers from environmental groups. Check www.firstuu.net for updates.

See You At The Fair!

Native American Storytelling & Drumming

Saturday, April 19 - 7pm

Grandma's Farm
6901 N Maize Rd, Maize, KS
316-721-9964

Bring your drums, rattles, flutes and lawn chairs and join us in a night of celebrating Earth with Native American Storytelling and drumming.

See You At The Farm!